Grayling Man Found Guilty Of Burning Own Home

James W. Moore, 43, of Grayling, was convicted of arson in a four-day trial held in Gaylord before Judge William A. Porter in circuit court.

The trial, which opened Tuesday, June 3rd, was moved from Crawford to Otsego County on a change of venue request by Emil Kraus of Grayling, Moore's attorney.

The jury brought back a guilty verdict late Friday after nearly four and one-half hours of deliberation. Moore's $7,500 bond was cancelled by Judge Porter and he is being held in the Crawford County Jail.

The arson charge stemmed from a fire early the morning of February 25th that destroyed Moore's single - story wood - frame modular home on Arthur St. in Clough's Subdivision.

The contents and home were reported to have been insured for $36,500.

Moore was arrested by Crawford County sheriff's deputies the day of the fire at a Grayling Motel. He had been held since under $5,000 bond.

The case was bound over to circuit court March 11th after examination, before District Judge Francis L. Walsh.

He will be sentenced upon completion of a pre-sentence report by the Court's probation officer and faces a maximum sentence of twenty years imprisonment in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson.

LANSING—Camp Grayling's 124,000 acres will be put to extensive use this summer as approximately 27,000 National Guard men and women, US Army and US Army Reservists from Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Missouri conduct Annual Training during the period 31 May thru 30 August.

Although extensive fuel conservation measures concerning military vehicles remain in effect, the easing of the energy crisis has enabled Guardsmen and Reservists from other states to once again utilize Camp Grayling. The fuel crisis during the winter and spring of 1974 had caused these individuals to train closer to home during Annual Training 1974 rather than at Camp Grayling.

One of the primary reasons for their return, however, is that Camp Grayling has gained national recognition as one of the finest National Guard training facilities of its kind in the United States. Much of this recognition is due to the many permanent buildings and range facilities built during the last few years. The camp now has 503 permanent buildings and 45 ranges which are capable of handling most types of weapons the National Guard possesses.

The Annual Training periods at Camp Grayling this year are:

31 May thru 14 June - 1,803 Guardsmen and US Army Reservists from Michigan, Indiana and Ohio.

14 June thru 28 June - 6,389 Guardsmen and Reservists from Michigan, Ohio and Illinois.

12 July thru 26 July - 4,921 Guardsmen and Reservists from Michigan, Indiana and Missouri.

2 Aug thru 16 Aug - 11,862 Guardsmen and Reservists from Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois.

9 Aug thru 23 Aug - 642 Guardsmen from Ohio, and 16 Aug thru 30 Aug - 510 US Army Reservists from Michigan.

Education To Benefit

It was close, but, the students in the Crawford AuSable School District will not be relegated to certain aspects in their education following the passage of the operational millage Monday.

We wish to commend those who voted for education, but also we do not condemn those against. Realizing all of us, young and old, are tax burdened, we can appreciate the feelings of those opposed to added taxes.

Our only decision to vote in the affirmative for the millage was that someone paid our way — whether we went very far — at least we had a chance.

We hope in the future that those who were helped this year — will remember as they go out in the world — to help those who will follow in their steps.

Again we will say, education, in all fields, is our most important product for our future — we are proud Crawford County taxpayers realize it.

River Country Players Active

What's been happening with the River Country Players? Lots of things! We are still going strong and would love to have you join us. We are actively in a membership drive right now and to obtain your application for membership, give Sandy Fleming a call at 348-7431.

Whatever happened to "Whirlwind Courtship" you ask? Well, it was shelved or better yet, put to rest. It was felt by all concerned, after reading and re-reading the script and even casting some parts, that it just wasn't good enough to ask our members to put so much time and energy into, and to ask you to spend your hard earned money on. We appreciate your support and want to give you our best. But don't be disappointed because we have some good things coming up in the future. Thanks to Ann Dosch and Margaret DeSantis for your efforts thus far.

Watch for our float coming up in the July 4th parade. Helen Moon and Sandy Fleming are getting this organized and we're all going to gather to help decorate the float. So if you'd like to help, give them a call.

Did you know the Rotary Club is planning an annual minstrel show? The players are signed up to help. The first one is coming up this fall.

We will not be doing another play until December. But what a play we've chosen, "The Prisoner on Second Avenue" is planned for December 5 & 6. It's a comedy by Neil Simon and has a cast of two men and four women. At our July meeting we will select a director, producer, and set designer and set up audition dates. It's really a funny play and we'd like to have you in the cast or behind the scenes.

Last but not least, the Christmas Pageant is in the planning right now. This is in connection with the Downtown Merchants Association. We're planning something bigger and better this year.

What would we do without our active members, the ones we can call on to work on stage or off stage, but we surely need our patron member as well. They are made up of business and individuals who may not be able to take part actively, but wish to hold a membership in support of the group. So we can give our businesses an opportunity to support the River Country Players. We will be trying to contact each of you in the near future.

See you at our next business meeting on July 14 at 7:30 at Chief Shoppenagons.

Earns BA Degree

Betty M. Konvicka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Konvicka, of Route 1, Roscommon, is a candidate for a bachelor of arts degree.

She majored in mathematics and is a 1971 graduate of Grayling High School.

While at LSSC, Miss Konvicka was active in concert band, pep and stage band, in which she played flute and piano. She also sang in the chorus and with the chamber ensemble. Among her other activities, she has played first flute in the Sault Ste. Marie Symphony Orchestra in Sault, Ontario, and is the president of the Mathematics Club on campus. She is a member of Gnosis, the honor society for senior women, and was chosen as a member of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities last year. She has also been consistently on the dean's list.

Following graduation, she hopes to find a position teaching high school mathematics in northern lower Michigan, and study toward a master's degree in mathematics.

She was graduated cum laude and received a special medal for this high scholastic achievement.

More than 340 received diplomas and certificates from President Kenneth J. Shouldice at afternoon ceremonies in Pullar Stadium.

A "distinguished citizen award," the College's highest honor to a non-graduate, went to Thomas F. Schweigert, former Michigan lieutenant governor and senator, and currently U.S. Commissioner of the Delaware River Basin Commission.

The "outstanding alumni award" was presented to Dr. Vivian Cody, a Sault Ste. Marie native and world renowned medical researcher.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

From Calvary Baptist Church

Divorce & Christian Service

Divorce and remarriage are considered in many church circles as unpardonable sins. People can steal, lie and even murder with forgiveness before God and the church, but let someone have divorce in his or her background and their usefulness for Christ is ended. The apostle Paul was a confessed murderer of Christians, and yet after his conversion God used him to write more New Testament epistles than any other person. Even common logic and justice must cause us to examine the scriptures concerning the place of divorced persons in Christian service.

Most people immediately refer to Timothy chapter three as the final word concerning the place of divorced Christians in the local church. Here it says that a bishop or pastor must be "the husband of one wife," and that deacons also must be "the husbands of one wife." On the basis of these scriptures many Christians say a divorced person should have no place of leadership within a local church, others will not accept them into membership.

It would be just as logical in applying the above words, "the husband of one wife", to rule out single persons who are not married, remarried persons who lost their spouse by death, and all polygamy. A divorced person who has remarried still has only one wife and cannot be ruled out of Christian service on the basis of these verses.

To clarify the above question, "of one wife" comes from the Greek "Mias gunaikos" which means literally one at a time. The stress seems to be upon the relationship between the husband and wife now, and not the past experiences of either. To paraphrase the thought we could say that every pastor and deacon should be a "one woman man". He should have eyes for only one woman, his wife. It is possible for a person to have never been divorced and not fulfill this scriptural qualification for leadership because he does not have the proper relationship toward his wife and other women.

Every Christian should be selected for Christian service on the basis of his present relationship to Jesus Christ and his faithfulness to God's word, and not on the basis of his past experiences outside of Jesus Christ.

A Christian who has been divorced by an unsaved spouse because of his or her faith, or a Christian who was "innocent" in a divorce proceeding should not be penalized in Christian service.

It is possible for a Christian to be guilty of willful sin in divorce which will place him or her on a shelf and limit his or her usefulness in church leadership indefinitely. These decisions will be faced by the local church on the basis of evidence derived from each subjective experience.

God hates divorce according to Malachi 2:14-16, and Christians should also hate divorce. But may we remember that Jesus Christ died for all sin including divorce. And may we be just as concerned to forgive those on earth whom Christ has forgiven in Heaven. Divorce is not an unpardonable sin. (Adv.)

FINDING IT ROUGH TO SAVE?

Here are a few tips from the credit union

1 Think of your credit union share account as a "due bill" with a pre-determined amount. Each month, make it the first bill you pay. And do it conscientiously until it becomes as automatic as paying the mortgage.

2 Consider any extra money you may receive from overtime, gifts, etc. as bonus savings and deposit it in your account before it is spent.

3 After paying off a loan or installment credit account, try making those same payments to your share account. It's money you haven't had use of for awhile and can probably do without for a little longer period of time.

4 Avoid impulse buying as much as possible. If you tend to overuse credit cards, it may be best not to carry them with you constantly. Impulse spending is one of the major reasons why many families find it so difficult to save.

We have a lot of other suggestions that can help lead you to savings success. Drop by first chance you get. We'll be glad to go over them with you.

Nothing is more important to us than your financial security.

your week ahead BY DR. A.W. DAMIS

Forecast Period: June 15 to June 21

ARIES

Mar. 21-Apr. 19

Beware! According to your chart, mischief that you have scheduled for someone else, will in fact—happen to you! Try to observe the golden rule, this week, at least.

TAURUS

Apr. 20-May 20

Many under your sign will discover that: A member of the opposite sex, who should not, will toss subtle overtures your way. No question, stay in bounds, is a must!

GEMINI

May 21-June 20

Get into your harness, Gemini! Again, there's a heavy workload coming your way, disguised as a special task that requires a particular aptitude.

MOONCHILD

June 21-July 22

Stellar patterns suggest that a good first impression is, now, in order. Apparently, the "impression" will involve closing the door on one project, while opening another.

LEO

July 23-Aug. 22

Being reasonable, this week, won't be one of your strong points. It's nearing that time again...you'll put a member of the opposite sex—to the "acid test."

VIRGO

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

At one time or another, we all go through it. But, this week, it's your chance. Meaning? You'll be given credit or blamed for something you did not do.

LIBRA

Sept. 23-Oct. 22

It's not that things have been boring. Nonetheless, affairs of the heart will take a rather surprising twist, for the better, naturally.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23-Nov. 21

Keep your long term plans under wrap. According to the aspects in your chart, a female is determined to betray you in a rather subtle way.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

There are times when intuition, E.S.P. or whatever you want to call it—can do more harm than good. You'll find out what we mean, this week.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Prevailing stellar patterns indicate that most members of your sign will be in conflict with the opposite sex. If you are the exception—look for favors with strings attached.

AQUARIUS

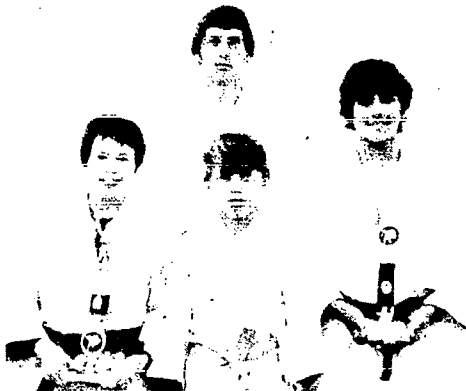

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Strange as it might sound, ancient ruins or antiquity will play an important role in this week's events. Also, there's a possibility that you might duplicate a past mistake.

PISCES

Feb. 19-Mar. 20

Most members of your sign will give serious consideration to how far they've come along in life. A cloud of meditation and deep thoughts hovers over your head.

The members of the Gray-Lee Judo Club pictured above, plus Trent Bigler, will be competing on the 8th of June in Detroit and again in Decatur, Illinois on the 4th and 5th of July. The trip to Decatur was made possible through the Grayling Booster Club. The Gray-Lee Judo Club wants to take this opportunity to thank the Booster Club for the financial help.

His elixir is bleeding

Major General Kenneth Houghton didn't mean to, but he reminded me I'd completely forgotten to celebrate the 30th anniversary of a day I swore I'd never forget.

That was May 8, 1945; the day World War II ended in Europe. Yes, poor readers, this is a war story...

When news of the German surrender came, I was in a hospital in a suburb of Munich. I had been suffering there for several days. Back home in Michigan, I had already been hailed as a hero. In the Alibi Bar there was a colorful sign saluting me as their first alumnus to be struck down in battle by syphilis. "He risked his life for us, bravely ignoring the warnings of the training films," the sign said.

Actually, I had the flu. I got sick sleeping on the stupid ground in the lousy rain. That's why, even today, when someone suggests I go camping, I automatically retort: "Why should I, our side won the war, didn't it?"

Anyway, by the time the army shuffled my fever-racked body through several tent cities and finally into a hospital, I was no longer sick. But I kept moaning and even put a hunk of soap in each armpit. It is a military myth that you can give yourself a fever by putting soap under your arms. All it does is force you to walk with your arms tight by your sides.

But I stole a few extra days in bed anyway. I told the doctor I walked that way because I'd swallowed my rifle. I think I offered to prove it by spitting bullets, or something like that. It's been 30 years and I can't remember everything.

You may wonder what's the point in revealing my cowardice at this late date. The point is that I wasn't a coward. I was a typical soldier. We weren't really chicken, but we weren't fools, either. Happiness was where the bullets weren't. Foot soldiers are the same today.

Whenever you hear a soldier begging the doctor to let him out of the hospital, even though he has 2 broken legs, so he can "get back to my buddies and kill some more rotten Germans" — whenever you hear that you know there's popcorn for sale in the lobby.

Major General Houghton, who turned my calendar back to 1945, is commander of the 3rd Marine Division. It was his men who attacked the wrong island in the bloody retrieval of the Mayaguez in Cambodia. He beat his breast on TV and explained why it was such a great victory for his boys:

"At the risk of sounding like a warmonger, I would describe it as elixir for morale. These young marines have been training and want to get out and do a job." That's what he said.

An "elixir" is a potion with magical powers to restore and cure. The general is claiming his men get bored and puny just training to kill. It makes them feel much better to experience the real thing — to shoot at live targets and to be shot back at in return.

Of course, the elixir failed the marines who died in the Mayaguez adventure. It didn't do much for those wounded or missing, either. And it probably doesn't help those parents much to know their sons weren't bored when they were killed.

Given a choice, in 1945 or 1975, most marines would pick a weekend in San Diego as a much greater elixir than invading an island.

At the risk of sounding disrespectful, I'd say General Houghton should be selling the popcorn in the lobby. †

Lawmakers in Indiana finish early

"All in all, you've brought a new, powerful meaning to mediocrity..." With these words ringing in their ears, members of the Indiana Legislature recently wrapped up their 61-day session for 1975.

Speaker was Edward Ziegner, political editor of the Indianapolis News.

Each year the Indiana Legislature invites a senior legislative reporter to review lawmakers' actions for the year in a speech from the podium of the House of Representatives.

"This Legislature is like having a 10-ton marshmallow in your driveway," Ziegner commented.

"You can kick hell out of it, but you can't move it."

One of the noteworthy accomplishments of the Indiana session, Ziegner said, was to produce an outstanding sentence uttered by one Indiana senator, who commented that Indiana citizens "are being inadequately over-taxed."

The newsman - turned - speaker summed up the Indiana session in a single sentence:

"I'd use the words of the extremely candid basketball coach who said about his team, 'Well, we're short, but we're slow.'"

And so it goes—tongue in cheek, we trust—down in Hoosier-land.

In Michigan, criticism of the Legislature is not limited to a single speech by a single reporter at the end of a single session.

Heck, no. In Michigan, every week is open season on the Legislature in the Michigan press, and sometimes the critics don't know any more about what's going on than the legislators do.

But they comment nevertheless and by the same token, legislators legislate nevertheless.

Speaking of newspaper-people and legislators, one state lawmaker down in Florida came up with an unusual idea to handle the press-politics-public relationship.

Florida State Rep. Art Rude, a Republican from Fort Lauderdale, offered a proposal to let the public vote on the hiring and firing of newspaper managing editors.

Rep. Rude said newspapers often publish unfair editorials on public officials and candidates.

"The managing editor's name would appear on every general election ballot with the sole question: Is he doing a competent job?" Rep. Rude explained.

He added: "There are many managing editors who wouldn't get re-elected."

One surprising point about Rep. Rude's plan was that it lost by only seven votes in the Florida House of Representatives.

Maybe the Florida lawmaker has got the germ of an idea-sort of a Missouri plan for political writers, similar to the Missouri plan for judges.

The press has the privilege and even the duty to comment; the office holder has the right to a channel of response; the public has the right to be informed and to form its own judgment, and to air its own views.

Whether election of editors would further these sometimes contradictory ends is rather doubtful; but it is a fresh approach.

But to get back to one of the primary purposes of this week's essay:

I hope my regular readers notices that Indiana reporter Ziegner delivered his critique of a completed annual session of a legislature earlier this year.

In Michigan, the lawmakers have not even got their bags unpacked; in Indiana, lawmakers already have heard their completed session analyzed.

Does Michigan have better laws than Indiana because the folks under the dome take more time to write them? Probably not.

Why not go back to the days before Michigan's year-around legislature?

Progress through going backward? In this case, that may just be possible.

Bits O' Taik

by Fay Bovee

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Edmonds, of Flint, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nelson, of Stanford, visited Mrs. Frank Serven at Mercy Hospital last week. Mr. Nelson was employed in Grayling as a plumber when the present post office was built in 1937 and roomed at the Serven home at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bond spent the third week in May at Monroe, with the Michigan Chapter of Avion Travelers Club. There were about 150 trailers in the camp. Enroute they visited Mrs. Bonds' sister-in-law, Mrs. Dwight Taylor in Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bond, Jeff, Julie and friend, Barbara Visser, of Lansing spent the last two weekends at the Frank Bonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley W. A. Smith and three sons of Lansing visited his folks over the Memorial holidays. Mr. and Mrs. David Smith Sr. accompanied them to Lupton, where they placed flowers on Wesley Sammons grave.

Mrs. David F. Henry Smith Jr. and baby, David Craig, came on Thursday from Alabama, to spend about a month with David and Laura Smith and her parents, the Howard Wrights of North Down River Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee Smith of Flint and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon A. Smith of Red Oak, Flint and Florida visited David and Laura Smith last week.

This reporter is happy to report that, contrary to a mistaken impression, the Earl "Chum" Longworths are not leaving the Grayling area. Chum is leaving the Chamber as of July 1st, but Marilyn is going to finish out the fiscal year until August 31st with their financial work and acting as Executive Secretary to the Board of Directors. "Tree Tops" on the main stream will continue to be their home, but they will spend part of the winter at Bayonet Point, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Longworth spent the weekend in Jackson attending the Jackson County Rose Queen Pageant. As field director for the Miss Michigan Scholarship Pageant, Marilyn was an observer of the pageant. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore of Spring Arbor. The Moore's daughter, Ann Frances, is the new Miss Jackson Rose Queen.

Well, I worry a lot. About the day when the gas man says, "Sorry, we just ran out of fuel to heat your home." I have nightmares about my car running out of gas and me trying to thumb a ride with people whose cars keep running out of gas, too. Sometimes I think that in 10 years, the last survivors of the human race will all be treading water at the equator, existing on contaminated fish and rotting fruit.

But here's a happy thought: Just think, a billion years ago, some little ancestor of a lizard gave his aid and sank nobly to the ocean's bottom, just so I could drive into town tomorrow for the Freakies cereal. It's too much, isn't it?

The oil companies keep trying to reassure us with those commercials that show men slogging through jungles infested with malaria and tropical fever, just because some oil-sniffing geologist thinks they may hit a hot well. The other extreme shows some guys out in the middle of the ocean, so far north that it's 60 below, and the fierce winds are pitching them almost off their rig. All of this is to make us feel that things are in good hands, and plenty of oil will be found after all. But it just makes me wonder, if we are going to these lengths already, where will they look for oil by 1980?

But most of all, the devotion of that little lizard keeps haunting me. Such sacrifice demands to be repaid. I followed this thing to its logical end, and decided there's only one way for a patriotic citizen to go. On my calendar, very soon, I'm going to schedule a sentimental journey. I'm just going to put on a pair of concrete overshoes, and go jump in a lake.....

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

For centuries men have been using nets to reap the rich harvest of the sea. There is a classic rhythm to the saga of the sea and fishermen. It is a tale filled with danger and persistence—success and failure. Indeed, it is very much akin to life itself.

You may not have to wrest your living from the sea, but you can learn a lesson from those who do. Fishermen the world around are, for the most part, devout folk. They've learned the meaning of faith. They know God. Seldom will you see even the smallest harbor town without a church. There men—and the women who wait for them—go to pray.

Have you been to your church lately?

On May 4th at St. Luke's Hospital Chapel in Denver, Colorado, Fredda Kathy White became the bride of Clinton Brown, Jr. Father Evans performed the ceremony.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor length aqua satin gown with a high neckline trimmed in rhinestones and seed pearls. She wore a matching headpiece trimmed with seed pearls in the shape of hearts and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The matron of honor, Mrs. William Howell, wore a floor length chiffon gown of rose background with white polka dots. It featured a rounded neckline and short puffed sleeves. The empire waist and sleeves were trimmed in lace and she wore a matching headpiece of rose colored spring flowers with white sweetheart roses.

The mother of the bride selected a teal blue floating chiffon floor length gown with long sleeves and short white gloves for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses.

Paul White gave his mother's hand in marriage and also carried a satin ring pillow. He wore a black and white tuxedo and aqua ruffles also.

The groom and his best man, Louis Lee, the groom's brother-in-law, wore black tuxedos and aqua ruffles also. A dinner reception was held at the Voyager Inn, Airport, after which the newlyweds left to Stapleton Airport for a few days in Las Vegas and then returned to Colorado for a weekend in the mountains.

They are residing at 2785 W. Louisiana Ave., Denver, Colorado 80219.

The Avalanche — Your Want Ad Paper

Jack Pine's Stump

Jack Pine is in a strange mood this afternoon. He has been deeply criticized for things he has written and said, he has been equally praised for the same things. Weird. He has done some favors for those whom he was capable of helping and he got into one helluva row on the phone with a friend who works for a local civic group which I admire tremendously. On this matter, though, I was against the group - and with good reason. Who, with any sense, would contravene his orders from his employers just because some local said he should? Not me, man; I need the job too much. Any person who has a job these days better hold on to it, no matter what you have to put up with. The alternatives are not many, and most are pretty grim. Money is money, and money pays bills and provides food and lodging.

JP. Saturday I attended a funeral for a friend of many years. It was at Michelson Memorial Church, a place which I have visited, but never attended a service. Rev. Paul Frederick did a fantastic job. The service was short and to the point; every word he said about June Feldhauser hit home. He said he had only known her for six years, but what he said made me wonder if maybe he hadn't known her for a hundred. It was that kind of service. The place was packed, a true tribute to a fine woman. Standing outside after the service, trying both to gather my wits and light a cigarette, a well-dressed man tapped me on the shoulder. For about 30 seconds I couldn't place him, but it turned out he was a man I had guided at least once a week most of last summer. I just didn't recognize him in anything but fishing clothes. He and I are both of the same faith - only he attends church on a regular basis, and I don't. But what he said really impressed me. "You know, Jack, I've been to a lot of funerals in my time, but I don't think I've ever been to one which was more meaningful than this one." I told him I couldn't agree more and muttered a private "Amen" as we parted. He headed for Higgins Lake, his home, and I for the Post Office, both of us aware that we had been participants in something both unusual and beautiful.

JP. Speaking of my fishing buddy, you know he and his new guide this summer netted 37 legal trout in two days, mostly on the South Branch and all on dry flies. They hit two of those rare "South Branch Days". That river is like a beautiful woman. She doesn't cooperate much, but when she does, buddy, hold on to your hat and keep the fly float handy!

JP. While on the subject of fishing, that Skunk fly, which the "purists" think should be banned, works like crazy on blue gills. It's also pretty good on bass and perch, so I am told. I know a man who has had amazing luck with the dry skunk on just those fish; in fact, he wants me to find him some more. Which, of course, I will - even though they are as scarce as Nixon supporters.

JP. Speaking of skunks, fish and Nixon supporters for some reason reminds me of a true tale I heard the other day. It seems a local citizen (who shall go unnamed since I value my life a bit) has an extreme fondness for garlic pickles. Recently he ate a full jar of the things, drank all the juice and even spooned out the garlic "goodies" at the bottom. Then he got into a car with a friend. The friend had a large affectionate dog in the front seat, and is the wont with dogs of that nature, turned to "greet" the man, got one whiff of his breath and promptly jumped into the back seat. I wonder what the guy's wife said? Oh well, my friend can have all the garlic pickles he wants; there are other things available, equally raunchy, to satisfy the needs of.....

High School Mini Sessions

On Thursday and Friday, May 29 and 30, Grayling High School students and faculty participated in the first Mini-Session.

45 different half day, full day and two day classes in areas such as; shotgun shooting and safety, wilderness camping, bicycle hiking, aviation ground school, civil defense weather spotting, canoeing, waterskiing, golf, dream analysis, finance, leather-working, judo, tennis, cake decorating, 10 speed bicycle repair, motocross, ghost towns of Crawford

County and Mackinaw Island were offered.

The purpose of the session was to provide students with an opportunity to gain at least introductory level experience in leisure time activities and areas where they have little experience or knowledge. With people having more and more leisure time on their hands, young people must be exposed to many different ways to constructively spend that time.

Courses were taught by teachers, students with adult supervision and adult and senior citizen volunteers from within the community.

Second Graders Aid Tornado Fund

Proceeds from a bicentennial quilt made by 30 second graders at Grayling Elementary School has added $173.50 to the Frederic tornado disaster fund.

The students began the quilt in February as a class project under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Mary Jane Knibbs, after reading about quilt making in the "Weekly Reader." Following the tornado disaster which struck Frederic in April, the class voted to sell their nearly-completed quilt to raise money for the town's tornado disaster fund.

Besides enabling the students to make the contribution to the relief fund, the quilt provided opportunities for them to learn about sewing, handling money and cooperating with fellow classmates on a group activity.

The project was started when the students brought in scraps of material which they then measured and cut into four-inch squares. The squares were sewn together by the students whenever they had completed their daily assignments.

Once the squares were sewn into a patchwork quilt, Mrs. Knibbs sewed quilting material and a backing onto the squares. About the same time, Mrs. Fritz Williams of Maple Forest heard about the project and offered to teach the class how to tie off the quilt.

With the sewing of the quilt completed, the students concentrated on selling tickets. After two weeks, nearly 1,800 tickets at 10 cents a ticket had been sold. Each day during the ticket sale, the class would turn in money from tickets sold the previous day, tally the receipts and count the change into bank rolls.

The winning ticket belonged to Mrs. Mary Galloway of Grayling, the grandmother of Kim Helsel, one of the second graders who had helped make the quilt.

The next day, the class walked down to the Grayling State Bank to purchase a money order. Jack Alef, bank president, gave the students a tour of the bank and presented each child with a new 50-cent piece as a memento of their visit.

On May 28 the students invited Dean Welch, Crawford County Board Commissioner from Frederic, to their classroom and presented him with the $173.50 money order for the disaster fund.

Roll Call. All Aye. Carried.

Resolution indicating intent to join with other general purpose units of local government in the Northeast Michigan Regional Area to develop and implement a plan resulting in a coordinated Waste Treatment Management System for the area

WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 208 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972, P.L. 92-500 (hereinafter called "The Act"), the Administrator of the United States Environmental Protection Agency has by regulation published guidelines for the identification of those areas which, as a result of urban-industrial concentrations or other factors, have substantial water quality control problems (40 CFR Part 126); and

WHEREAS, the Northeast Michigan Regional Area (designated as State Planning and Development Region 9 and hereinafter called "the Area") satisfies the criteria contained in the Act and guidelines and designation of the area pursuant to Section 208 and those guidelines is desirable; and

WHEREAS, Section 126.10 of the guidelines requires, among other things, that the affected general purpose units of local government within the problem area must show their intent, through formally adopted resolutions, to join together in the planning process to develop and implement a plan which will result in a coordinated waste treatment management system for the area; and

WHEREAS, such planning process and waste treatment management system is a necessary and significant measure to control present point and non-point sources of water pollution and to guide and regulate future development and growth in the area which may affect water quality, in order to prevent, abate and solve existing and potential substantial water quality control problems;

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS RESOLVED THAT the County of Crawford, recognizing that the Region 9 Area has substantial water quality control problems, supports designation of the Area pursuant to Section 208 and the EPA guidelines.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED THAT the County of Crawford intends to join with other affected general purpose units of local government within the boundaries of the area to develop and implement a plan which will result in a coordinated waste treatment management system for the area.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED THAT, inasmuch as the Northeast Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission is a single representative organization with elected officials or their designees from local governments and is capable of developing effective area-wide waste treatment management plans for the Area, the County of Crawford supports the designation of said organization as the planning agency for the Area.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED THAT all proposals for grants for construction of publicly owned treatment works within the boundaries of the designated area will be consistent with the approved plan and will be made only by the designated management agency or agencies.

That's one thing Paul is really going to miss now that he has graduated. "Many artists can work at their art only on a part-time basis because they have to work at something like teaching in order to pay for materials and tools."

Paul now intends to concentrate on his sculpting for awhile and then subsidize his craft with other employment.
